SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE HERALD.

General Napier Assaults Theodorus' Works The British Storming Party in Light March ing Order-Break in the Field Telegraph and the Result Unknown.

QUEEN'S HOTEL, LONDON, April 20, 1868. A letter, just to hand, from the special correspondent of the HERALD attached to the British army exon in Abyssinia, dated at Ashangi on the 19th of March, in the evening, conveys the important inelligence that he was moving to the front, as Major eral Napier had arranged and given orders for an ediate dash on the defence works of Theor at Magdala whenever the main body of the army reached within two days' march of the King's camp after passing Ashangi.

Despatches have just been received from Abyssinia dated at Zoulla on the 2d of April, and the telegrams report that Napier had started forward and the contemplated assault had been made by a British storming party, his men having been equipped in light marching order, but the result of the movement was then unknown, in consequence of a break having occurred in the field telegraph wire near the army post at Senafe.

The Election Progressing Quietly—Negroco Re-ported Voting the Democratic Ticket.

ATLANTA, April 20, 1868. The election is progressing quietly, and there is much enthusiasin with both parties. There was a large negro vote to-day. Bullock is ahead in this city. Gordon's friends are not generally voting. It is said that at Marietta one hundred and eighty egroes formed in line and voted for Gordon. The election in Macon has proceeded quietly, the negroes having the poles pretty much to themselves to-day. Sixteen hundred and fifty votes have been polled, only a few hundred of which are whites.

AUGUSTA, April 20, 1868. The negroes, with a few exceptions, voted the radical ticket. They marched in squads from the country to the polis with banners flying and reiling for Bullock. The excitement is intense, and but little is needed to bring about a fearful collision. About 2,200 votes have been polied, nearly 2,000 of which are negroes. The total registered vote in the county 28,500.

The Clerkenwell Explosion Murder Trials-The Fenian Prisoners Arraigned at the Old

LONDON, April 20, 1868. The trial of the Fenian prisoners—Desmonds, English, O'Keefe, Barrett and Ann Justice—who are accused of having caused the Clerkenwell explosion, came on this morning at the Old Bailey, before Lord Chief Justice Cockburn and Judge Bramwell, of the Court of Queen's Bench. The prosecution will be conducted by the Attorney and Solicitor General, assisted by Mr. Gifford.

The following gentlemen will appear for the prisoners:—Messrs. Sleigh and Straight for Timothy Desmonds, Keogh for English, Green for Barrett, M. Williams for O'Keefe and Ann Justice.

All the prisoners will be tried together. The jury has been sworn, and the trial is now (noon) pro-The court room and approaches thereto are densely crowded with people, who manifest great interest in the proceedings. Many policemen are present to preserve order, and the authorities have taken other extraordinary precautions.

Burke and his fellow prisoners will be tried immediately on the conclusion of the trial now proceeding, probably on Friday next.

The Crown Case and Testimony.

LONDON, April 20-Evening. The Attorney General opened the case for the procution. He said he expected to prove that the crime of murder had been committed upon the person of s woman, one of the victims of the explosion at the Clerkenwell House of Detention; that the explosion was directly brought about by the prisoners the bar, four of whom, the festimony would show, were members of a Fenian organization; that the said explosion was part of a plot to facilitate the es cape of Burke, a Fenian leader, confined in the said House of Detention; that in the confusion incident to the explosion Burke was to make his escape that a fund of money was raised at a Fenian meeting in Holborn to provide for the expenses of the conspiracy; that all the pris oners in the court were immediately concerned in the atrocious attempt, except perhaps the woman Ann Justice; but that the prisoners Barret and Murphy joined at a late date in the conspiracy; that a man named Falon, who had not yet been arrested, was known to have bought the powder for the us of the conspirators.

of the plot was fixed for the 12th of December. Burke was to be warned of the lighting of the fuse outside by a ball which was to be thrown over the wall into the prison yard, where it was expected be But the attempt failed on that day. On the following day the fuse was lighted by Barret himself, and the conspirators succeeded in producing the unfortunate explosion which cansed the murder for which they are now on trial. A short time before this event the woman Ann Justice was seen talking with the Desimonds, and she was arrested after the explosion, white flying from the scene, in their company. The learned counsel concluded his speech by announcing that Vaughn and Mulancy, accomplices in the crime, had become Queen's evidence and would give their textimony before the court; but he warned the jury against accepting their evidence as conclusive unless sustained by the other witnesses produced by the Crown.

sustained by the other witnesses produced by the Crown.

The witnesses for the prosecution were then called. Formal testimony was taken as to the nature of the wounds received by the deceased.

The informer Mulianey was then called to the witness bar and sworn. He testified that all the male prisoners were regular members of the Fenian or-

Thompson the court adjourned until to-morrow morning.

The court room was crowded with spectators until the adjournment. Most intense interest is taken in the trial by the people, especially by the inhabitants of Clerkenwell.

DICKERS' LAST READING.

try was given tast night at Steinway Hall before a very large audience, who were most enthusiastic in tures. The pieces chosen for the entertainmen were "The Christmas Carol" and the "Bardell Trial," from Pickwick. In the "Carol" Mr. Dickens was decidedly dull and lessened in his oral description of that very beautiful work the feelings always enterrather uneffective and unimpressive. The reading of the "Bardell Trial" was much more effective and perfect. Mrs. Bardell was good and so was the lawyer, but Winkle was decidedly injured. Pickwick played out and poor Sam Weller so decidedly killed that old Toney himself would not know him. To praise Mr. Dickens would be to speak of the excess sively good description of Sam Weller in his work; of the peculiarities of that young gentleman, so well sustained in the same; of his actions, comicalities and low witticisms, so well illustrated, and all thes deserve and merit praise. But Mr. Dickens ruined the character in especial by his readings of and loval Sam could really have been said to recog nize him last night by his creator. Mr. Dickens, like other creators, falled in reproducing what his readers have themselves many a time and oft imagined, and, like so many Frankensteins, the creators have had reason to feel dissatisfied with their work.

MR. DICKENS' REMARKS. After closing the Pickwick reading, in which he had excited the risibility of his au-dience, as he portrayed, in his inimitable way, the success of Mrs. Bardell and her treacherous accorneys, Dodson & Fogg, against the more Pickwickian Parker, Mr. Dickens was retiring when he was led back hand in hand by his friend Doiby, and the applause which was following him off the stage came back and started with fresh vigor acknowledgment, spoke as follows:-

as Mr. Dickens entered, and, after a bow and another acknowledgment, spoke as follows:—

Ladies and Gentlemen.—The shadow of one word has impended over me all this evening, and the time has come when the shadow must fall. It is but a short word but the weight of such things is not measurable by their length, and tho shorter words express the whole round of our human existence. When I read bavid Copperfield here last Taursday evening I felt that there was more than usual significance, for me, in Mr. Peggotty's declaration, "My future life lies over the sea," and when I closed my book just now I keenly felt that I was presently going to establish an allow that might have satisfied even the elder Mr. Weller himself. The relations that have arisen between us in this hall-relations at least sustained on my side by carnest devotion of myself to my task, and sustained on yours by the readlest sympathy and the kindest encouragement, are now to be broken for ever. But I entreat you to believe that in passing out of my sight you will not pass out of my mind. I shall often recall you equally by my winter dreside and in the green English summer weather—never as a public audience; always with gratinge, tenderness and regard. Ladies and gentlemen, I bid you farewell, and I pray God bless you and God bless the land in which I leave you.

The whole audience gave their applause as Mr.

SWINDLING EMPLOYMENT AGENCIES.—Among the worst class of confidence operators who prey upon the unwary in this city are the proprietors of so-called employment agencies. Their plan of operating is to induce, by glowing advertisements of first class help wanted, such as bookkeepers, pursers and pursers' clerks, hotel clerks, &c., young men to apply to them, who, upon paying the fee called for, are given letters to other parties in collusion with the agent. The letter delivered, the bearer is informed that the vacancy has just been filled. He returns to the office, is again provided with a letter, the same result follows, and again, until, tired out, he finds himself swindled and calls no more.

Marshal Marray and Colonel Wood on Trial for Illegal Arrest and Imprisonment.

The case in which Daniel E. Wright, the alleged robber of the safe in the Treasury Department of the Erocklyn Navy Yard, prefers certain charges against Colonel Wood and Marshal Marray, came up for hearing yesterday. The indictment charged that the defendents, on the 2d of April, did uniawfully selze the compainant and convey him outside the jurisdiction of the State: that he was subsequently taken from his residence in Astoria to the Ludiow street jail, then sent to the Jersey depot, where he was embarked to Washington and confined for eighteen days, after which an attempt was made to get him on a gunboat; that having been conveyed to Alexandria he was confined for eighteen days longer, and then set at liberty without trial or examination and without being informed upon what ground he had, been arrested. Several witnesses were examined and the evidence adduced went to show that the officers had arrested Wright for the robbery in question. The case has not concluded.

The first bal d'opéra at Pike's Opera House, diough probably by no means the last, was given last night, under the special anspices of Mr. Pike, and was an affair of great social édat and brilliancy, both as regards number of patrons and as regards their quality. The weather was peculiarly unpropidous, the pluvial Jupiter, as somebody is the habit of expressing himself on all occasions, having all day devoted himself to the production of the most importinent drizzle of rain that ever afflicted the devoices of the dance with the prospect of a thin house or a possible postponement of the affair altogether. As it was, the guests were rather tarrly in in arrival, and the ball was hardly begun at half-past ten o'clock, though, saving this tardiness, the affair has not been surpassed in any respect by any previous opera ball. The usual preliminaries of flooring, &c., had been engrafted upon the generally very convenient and, in some respects, exceedingly romantic ensemble of the Opera House within, the guests entering, as on previous occasions, at the further Twenty-third street door, and finding their way to the ball room by a route leas direct than that afforded by the main entrance.

The floor committee consisted of the following gentlemen, viz:—James Lukeheim, Griffith Thoman, Jr., L. F. Harrison, A. E. Sanger, Jerome Buck, Samuel Martin, P. J. Randolph, Jr., and F. A. Curtis, The arrangements for the preservation of the most punctilious etiquette of order were as admirable as admirably carried out, nothing being left undone and no pains being spared to secure the ulmost degree of convenience and ease to the general patrons of the occasion of the first grand opera ball at the new Opera House. The programme approprisely consisted of operatic selections, the music being under the direction of Mr. L. M. Downing, of the Seventy-first regiment band, with Mr. G. Weingarten as leader. The order of dancing was in fourteen pieces, exclusive of the grand selections, the music being under the direction of Mr. L. M. Downing, SCHE SIDNEY PRICE, from Zaza, Cuba, for Philadelphia, before reported ashore on Bahla Honda, is stated in a despatch from Key West to have been saved.

SCHE ALFARATTA OF Gloucester, 85 tons), Captain Rowe, from Greenport for George's Bank, mistook a house light on cuttyhunk for Tarpaulin Cove, night of the 17th inst, and beating up, as was supposed, to enter the Cove, went ashore on the south side of the island of Cuttyhnuk about 9 clock. The people of Cuttyhunk hauled the Humane Society's boat across the island and took off the crew, the sea running so that the men had to be taken off the jibboom. When they left he vessel was light, but it was too rough AM of 18th to do anything about getting her off. She is insured in Gloucester.

The New York Submarine Company are putting a new boiler in their steamer Resoue, and are having her thoroughly overhauled and put in complete order. She will be ready for active operations in about ten days.

SHIP AUDURON, 823 tons, built at Warren, RI, in 1868, has been sold at Philadelphia for the coasting trade. Schu C O Clark, 121 tons, 24 years old, built at Kenne-bunk, and halling from Portland, Me, has been purchased in this city by Mr W S Crook, on private terms.
